RE: F.D. Computer System

I have attached the State of Florida contract price quotes from Gateway Computers and Dell Computers. These are the only two companies that could meet the required configuration relating to the purchase of five (5) computers and accessory equipment for networking within the fire station and fire department administrative offices. The accessory network equipment, wiring and setup, with in-house training will be the same price, no matter which bid is accepted.

After careful consideration and comparison of the units bid at state contract price, the Gateway bid is the lowest and includes the greatest amount of hardware and software including (1) one E-4000 computer/server with Pentium 4 Processor 1.8 GHz and 512 MB Memory @ $1,858.54 and (4) four E-4000 computer workstations, all with Pentium 4 Processor 1.8 GHz and 256 MB Memory @ $1,802.54 to operate on an internal network including peer-to-peer access. The price per unit includes an individual combination printer/fax/copier, HP model G-85, with associated USB cable at each workstation location. The total price also includes hard drive mirror backups, with RAID cards in each computer, and one (1) Etherfast 8-port router for the internal network.

Accessories also include UPS power backup units and "removable" hard drive mounting cases for safe storage of data from each workstation in case of a storm condition. The total for accessories and network wiring will be no more than $560. Installation, setup, and in-house training by R. Mason I.T., a local company, are estimated at a maximum of $767.

The total system will also accommodate a central color laser printer at an additional cost of $1,400, with supplies,

Total outlay for the complete Gateway system, including accessories, shipping and installation will be $11,845.70.

Price for the comparable Dell system with all accessories, wiring, install, etc., would be $13,907.
